HIGHLIGHTS

- Two new fires were reported Tuesday to the Alaska Interagency Coordination Center (AICC). Both are in areas of Limited Suppression in the Tok Area. Currently 30 fires are active in Alaska, none are staffed. AICC reports that so far this year 255 fires have burned 224,085 acres statewide.
- There were 399 new fires reported nationally on Tuesday. Thirteen new large fires were reported, four in the Eastern Great Basin Area, two each in the Southwest, Northern California and Rocky Mountain Areas, and one each in the Western Great Basin, Northern Rockies and Southern Areas. Alaska's Type 1 Incident Management Team (IMT) is number one on the national rotation list, but they have not yet been assigned an incident. An IMT is the incident commander and appropriate general or command staff personnel assigned to manage an incident. The Bureau of Land Management Alaska Fire Service provides wildland fire suppression services for all Department of the Interior and Native Corporation lands in Alaska, and assists those entities with other fire management activities including: guidance and interpretation of fire policy for BLM Alaska and management of the BLM Alaska aviation program. In addition to fire suppression missions, AFS also conducts prescribed fires in accordance with various partner agreements.
